NEW LOCATION:
Held at The C. G. Jung Center

In the first half of life, we must establish our ground to survive in the outer world. In the second half of life, our soul beckons us to attend to our Dharma or Purpose in this lifetime. Participants will be introduced to the integrative Hindu and Jungian perspectives on establishing their path to their soul, by decoding the symbols of our soul that incarnate in our life.

These symbols manifest as dreams, fantasies, complexes, synchronistic events, accidents, relationship tangles, creative outputs, medical and psychiatric symptoms. All of these incarnations of the soul carry a potential symbol. These symbols have the potential to renew and rekindle the vitality and purposefulness of our life. Methods to decode and honor these soul symbols will be explored using case vignettes and film clips.
