

C G JUNG INSTITUTE OF CHICAGO

Panel: Achilles & Athena

Ashok Bedi, MD
Lynne Copp, PhD
Victoria Drake, PhD
September 16, 2-5pm

The current election atmosphere in the USA is profoundly challenging and confusing as we face one of the most disruptively polarizing times in our political sphere ever. How could we deepen the seeming oppositional energies embodied by our two party system to explore what they might be asking of us, mirroring for us, as a collective? One way through this chaotic field is to open up the mythic perspectives of Achilles and Athena to inquire what they have to say for our time in the 21st century.

In this communal discussion we will explore the mythological roots of the 2016 presidential campaigns in order to deepen our understanding of the polarizing energies emerging in our country and to imagine ways beyond them.

September 16, 2-5pm
Grace Place - 637 S. Dearborn Ave, Chicago, IL - MAP
$30 at the door

There is no RSVP or pre-registration for this event.
Payments will be accepted at the event. Cash or check only.